

Caterpillars are worm-like moth babies. After they are born, they feed heavily and then encase themselves in a silky sack called a pupa. After a resting period, a moth is formed inside the pupa. Help this caterpillar on its journey to become a moth.

